Hey Rebecca,

Sorry for not responding by COB Monday (pretty early Tuesday is functionally the same, right?) – being from Georgia, I'll take peanuts ☺ hopefully the meeting today helps us.

Thanks always for being the organizational powerhouse on this.

Thanks, Sergio!

I am looking forward to the meeting tomorrow to discuss this request some more. Let's see what the managers have to say.

Thanks Rebecca,

I'll start diving into this during the week. I already took a quick look at your table and work outline; looks great!

I can get on the citrus, soybean and sweet potato.

Thanks,

That's good to know about another meeting. I will hold off on additional work and look forward to an update from our managers.

It's almost like aldicarb is a rite of passage AI these days. Lucky all of us! ☺ And, thank you, I will share your table—that will be very helpful.

And I'm positive BAB and SIAB will meet again (with BCs) as soon as we get confirmation from EFED about what exactly is needed from us. (Hope says she expected an answer from EFED already, so I'm hopeful we'll have a better idea of what's needed sooner than later.)

Thanks, Lindsey!

I appreciate the update that SIAB is meeting internally. "Lucky" new SIAB person who gets to work on aldicarb, huh?

If you feel it is appropriate, please feel free to share the table that I put together. It may give Mark and SIAB managers what I was thinking, at least, with respect to this request.

Is it likely that SIAB and BAB will meet again prior to moving forward to make a final work plan? You probably don't know the answer now, of course, but even knowing that the team will meet with our managers will help me to decide whether to dive in or keep circling.

I hope that your Monday is awesome 😊

Hey Rebecca, thanks for organizing all of this. SIAB is going to have an internal discussion about who will be working on this. There will likely be a couple/few of us. Also, it sounds like Mark has already done some scoping for this. I'll check in when I can give you a concrete answer about what level of commitment I can make.

Correction! Monday, 9/28. Please let the team know your crop preference 😊

Hi everyone,

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Personally, I have found that these documents are helpful regardless of the project!

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Sergio, the proposed label for aldicarb's use in citrus is attached.

Ex. 5 Deliberative Process (DP)

Please review the table and lets decide by COB Monday, 9/29 which analyst will take which crop or group. I do not have a preference. Anyone, feel free to schedule a meeting for Monday, if you want to discuss this some more (or to learn my short-cut that I hint at in the table!). Otherwise, I will assume that this tentative plan is okay. I will only hear from you with your preference for crop assignment.
